D.— Village Evangelization No. 3. This publication is in 4 parts. The 1st part by a native evangelist, points out the defects such as want of union among the different Christian denominations, absence of enthusiasm in raising up and training an indigenous ministry exclusion of native ministers from the right of voting, invidious distinctions in respect of salaries paid to native ministers and several other shortcomings which go to impede the course of the Indian Church. The first part suggests also some remedies. The second part emphasises the need for self-support on the part of village churches. The 3rd part points out the existence of certain non-christian sites and institutions on which Xian institutions may be reared. The fourth part emphasises the need for evangelistic work among those whose vernacular is English and who live scattered all over India in small groups.
